WORKSHOPS: 292 Participants

1) Fostering Sustainable Behavior Seminar: 65 Participants

The Collaborative hosted the Fostering Sustainable Behaviors Seminar, led by world-renowned environmental psychologist Dr. Doug McKenzie-Mohr. Environmental professionals from across Ohio and Kentucky attended this three-day workshop to learn about Community-Based Social Marketing, a proven strategy for driving behavior change in environmental and public health outreach campaigns worldwide. Participants left equipped with the tools and knowledge to implement effective behavior change initiatives, no matter the environmental challenge.

2) Rain Barrel Workshops: 115 Attendees

The Collaborative hosted four rain barrel workshops across the region. Workshops were held at the Hamilton County Conservation District, Clermont Soil & Water Conservation District, Butler Soil & Water Conservation District, and Sanitation District No. 1. Participants discovered the benefits of rain barrels, learned how to install them, and many even took home their own barrels to put their knowledge into action.

3) Stormwater Float: 112 Attendees

The Collaborative hosted another year of the Stormwater Field Day, this year called the Stormwater Float. Construction and development professionals boarded a riverboat, cruised down the Ohio River, and learned about post-construction best management practices that protect the health of local waterways.

EVENTS:

The Rain Barrel Art Project is Save Local Waters signature program. This program invites local artists of all levels to paint one of 40 Rain Barrels. These Rain Barrels are then displayed at the Cincinnati Zoo for a period of 3 weeks. During these weeks close to two hundred thousand visitors interacted and viewed these Rain Barrels. At the end of the Display period the Rain Barrels are auctioned off during the Zoo's Party for the Planet. Here are some highlights from last year's project:

B5*Activity: Website Database and Mapping - Butler County Stream Team*Date: 01/01/2024 - 12/31/2024

The Butler County Stream Team, a public volunteer stream monitoring group, maintains and continues to develop a website that is capable of displaying the location of all sampling sites and all associated data collected from 2006 – present. In 2015, the site was redesigned with the input from 3 other volunteer monitoring groups in Southwest Ohio. Upon completion, the new site was launched under the name “STREAM BANK”.

The StreamBank website is now a collaborative effort of volunteer stream monitoring groups. The website serves as a central repository for volunteer monitoring data. The initial members are located in Southwest Ohio, but it is hoped that other groups across the state and region will take advantage of this service. This website provides a secure online backup of data and allows participating groups to make their data visible to a wide audience. The goal for the StreamBank Regional Water Quality Database is to provide sound water quality information, collected by volunteers, to the general public, academia, resource agency staff and local decision makers.

StreamBank is a powerful tool that contains interactive graphing & reporting features to customize selections and cross query data sets. As additional groups participate, water quality data can be viewed in connection with other parts of a single watershed and across neighboring watersheds. It is very important that all the data collected is scientifically credible. Great effort is taken to train volunteers to collect and analyze water samples from local surface waters in accordance with strict quality assurance protocols and as part of a project study plan. Participating groups are encouraged to pursue Credible Data status with their respective state and federal agencies.

The analytical data posted on this site was generated to satisfy specific data quality objectives of each group participating in the Regional Water Quality Database. All of the samples were analyzed and collected by trained volunteer water quality monitors. Users of the data must understand potential limitations of the information and its suitability for their intended use. Please refer to the appropriate Project Study Plan and Quality Assurance document for each data set.

Use of the StreamBank system is available to other volunteer monitoring groups that have developed a Project Study Plan and Quality Assurance Project Plan. For more information on creating an account, please contact Bob Lentz, Butler County Storm Water District at 513 - 785 - 4101. Coli/coliforms.

B7*Activity: Mill Creek Watershed - Detention Basin Retrofit - Schul Estates Subdivision*Date: 01/01/2023- 12/31/2026

The District, with the aid of Strand & Associates, identified three potential detention basins for retrofit in the Schul Estates subdivision. The subdivision is located in the Mill Creek watershed and has an approved USEPA Watershed Action Plan. The following pollutants were identified in the plan, Dissolved Nitrogen, Total Phosphorous, and E. coli. To address the TMDL goals, the District proposes to retrofit three existing peak flow detention basins by incorporating Ohio EPA's Water Quality Volume and drawdown time. During preliminary analysis two basins were determined to be candidates for retrofits while the other had too many site constraints. The District's consultant is currently performing field survey and preparing construction drawings for review. The project is expected to be completed after access easements are acquired and construction is finished. Completion date estimated for Fall of 2026.
